

Constant Rains Ruin Roads, Delay Seeding

Newmarket—Silas Armitage, 97-year-old weather commentator, forecast cooler weather for June. "Every moon change during the month of June will be a morning change according to an almanac at which I was just looking. People used to say that a morning change in the moon means a cool change," he said.

Mr. Armitage said that he had known some late springs and some wet weather in his time "but I have never seen anything quite so bad as this. I understand that some farmers on the flats have not been able to begin to seed yet. But if I had my life to live over again I think I would still want to be a farmer, even if farming isn't what it used to be."

The most harassed man in Newmarket on Monday was Councilor Frank Bowser, chairman of the road and bridge committee of the Newmarket town council, who could scarcely get a word in edgewise to the Era and Express between telephone calls from people complaining that the rain was plugging up their sewers or caving in their roads.

"So far, I have received information that sewers are plugged on Prospect St., Niagara St. and Charlotte St., that the roads where sewers have been installed within the past year are all caving in and that all the other dirt roads in town are pot-holing. I have made arrangements for a big power grader from East Gwillimbury to come down and grade all of the dirt roads as soon as the weather is clear enough so that it can be operated. After the roads are graded they will be crowned with gravel and coated with oil. But none of that can be done while it continues to rain like this," Mr. Bowser said.

"The roads around the camp in particular are taking a beating," he continued. "They have not had a chance to harden since the sewers went in and have all caved in. I don't know yet what we are going to do about it. It will take three days and 50 yards of gravel to repair the damage to the roads that has been done today."

W. M. Cockburn, agricultural representative for North York, recommends that farmers who are worried about late planting obtain a copy of a booklet, Guide to Crop Production in Ontario, which was prepared by the Ontario standing committee on field crop improvement of the Ontario department of agriculture statistics and publications branch.

"Anyone who wants a copy can get one from my office," he said. Mr. Cockburn said that hay is doing well this year except in those sections where the new seeding was killed by drought last year, as it was in Keswick. "Fall wheat is coming along very well except where water is lying on the fields," he continued. "In some districts there is little or no spring seeding done yet. While the southern end of the county has about 90 percent of its spring grain seeded, there are a number of sections where the continued rains have prevented seeding operations entirely. It is questionable whether there is much over 50 percent of the spring seeding done in York county north of No. 7 highway."

"Pastures are making good growth but unfortunately the soft condition of the land prevents farmers from turning their cattle out," Mr. Cockburn continued. "This has necessitated the prolonging of stable feeding with the result that the supply of hay is getting very short in many barns and the feed grain shortage is being further aggravated. Indications are that the acreage of early potatoes has been materially reduced and very few late potatoes have been planted yet," he said. "An occasional field of corn has been seeded but it is generally agreed that seed corn is better in the bag since it requires a warm soil for satisfactory germination. There is a keen demand for earlier maturing varieties of corn to offset the late seeding."

Mr. Cockburn said that in view of the lateness of the season there would be very few oats seeded from now on, except for the very early varieties, particularly the rust resistant varieties such as Vicland, Ajax, Beaver and Erban.

"There is likely to be a little more barley and buckwheat planted than would normally be seeded," he said. "Now that there are a number of mechanical corn pickers, many farmers are planning to plant a few acres of (Page 7, Col. 3)

KING VOTES JUNE 16
King City voters will go to the polls on June 16 to approve or reject the construction of waterworks as a local improvement in the village. Two-thirds of the property-owners have already petitioned for the improvement, cost of which is estimated at $40,000, and it would seem likely the vote will carry. The Ontario Municipal Board has approved the vote.

AURORA PLANS FOR NEW ROADS

Aurora—Reeve C. E. Sparks and the streets committee of the Aurora council have recommended "a system of road construction be instituted in the town, whereby the streets will be more uniformly and systematically shaped and built," if supplies are available, and no technical difficulties are encountered. As an experiment, it was suggested that Maple and Spruce Streets be scarified and shaped to proper drainage level and then treated with bituminous asphalt and seven-eighths stone surface. It was pointed out that on both these streets the crown on the road was above sidewalk level and had pronounced humps. Approving the plan, the council also provided for work to be done on Harrison Ave. following that on Maple and Spruce Streets.

Sidewalks will be laid this year on Edward St., the north and south sides of Wellington St., the north side of Catharine Ave., and minor repairs throughout town.

Kennedy St. has been gravelled for a half mile, and when cement is available, a new culvert will be built. A surveyor will be engaged to secure the proper street line at Connaught Ave. and Gurnett Sts., and the creek at Gurnett St. will be cleaned out.

Aurora Council Ignores Anonymous Protests

Aurora—A Mr. J. D. F. wrote an anonymous letter to the Aurora town council recently, but the councillors will not deal with the matter until the complaints are under the writer's own signature. "We can't deal with anonymous complaints," Clerk Harold Clark said. The letter read in part: "The garbage system is a disgrace, and does not add to the beauty of the town. If the dog by-law were only enforced it would greatly improve the conditions of the town's health. Our lawns should be fit for the children to play on and our gardens not destroyed. Or is the dog by-law only a scrap of paper to be read over every spring and laid by for a year and the dogs go on just the same. Better do a bit of street cleaning before planning a new park."

Door-To-Door Canvass To Aid Greek Campaign

Newmarket—In an interview yesterday Alex. Georgas, chairman for Newmarket for the Canadian Relief to Greece appeal, said "With only a flicker of hope, the Greeks are struggling to rebuild their shattered land, the most fertile districts of which were ravaged by the Axis powers. About 1,440 Greek towns and villages, and approximately 90 percent of the roads and bridges were destroyed. One million men, women and children lost homes and possessions in the flames of their burned villages. Today they live like animals in caves and lean-tos. "In Greece, the need for clothing is second only to the need for food," he continued. "Open the door to hope—you hold the key. Send your money donations to the Bank of Montreal, the Bank of Toronto, or to the King George hotel, H. E. Lambert is treasurer for the campaign and a door-to-door canvass for donations is planned for June 3-7 inclusive. The appeal will be closed on June 7 with a tag day. "Folders have been distributed to all Newmarket homes," he said. "Mrs. H. E. Gilroy, Mrs. Edward Robinson, Mrs. M. A. Patterson and Mrs. Bert Budd are the volunteer captains in charge of the canvass, while Mrs. G. E. Case is supervising the tag day on Main St."

Town Presents Colors To Vets At Spring Concert

Newmarket—The presentation of the colors by the town of Newmarket to the Newmarket Veterans' Association on Friday evening proved a most impressive ceremony.

The Canadian Corps color party, under the leadership of R.S.M. Baker, entered the arena as the Newmarket Citizens' Band played the Colonel Bogie March. It was followed by over 60 Canadian Corps members from Toronto, representatives from the women's branches of the armed services, delegates from New Zealand and Australia and Canadian Corps Association members from Bradford and Newmarket.

J. P. Benton, C.O. of the parade, outlined what the colors symbolized and the service of consecration of the colors was performed by Rev. H. Cotton with all present joining in the Lord's Prayer.

Reeve Arthur Evans, as presenting officer, then took over and the two guards, Doug Carley, who served in World War II with the armored tank corps, and Fred Evans, who served with the Royal Regiment of Canada and was taken a prisoner of war at Dieppe, placed the colors on the drum head. Sydney Brice and Alfred Elphinstone, as the two ensigns, received the colors which Arthur Evans, in turn, presented on behalf of the town of Newmarket to the Newmarket Veterans' Association.

"The town council deems it an honor and privilege to present these colors to your association, in recognition of the fine service rendered by this organization to Newmarket," Mr. Evans said.

Capt. Aubrey Davis, the honorary president of the Newmarket Veterans' Association, received the colors on behalf of the organization. Mr. Davis sounded a note of warning in his address when he said that although the war is over, universal peace is not necessarily assured. He complimented the veterans on their excellent achievements over the past years and expressed his regrets at the lack of co-operation they had received with

LOST IN SINKING

Newmarket—Among those listed as having been lost in the sinking of the Canada Steamship Lines freighter, Emperor, on Canoe Rocks in Lake Superior June 1 was Frank Ladue who worked in Newmarket prior to joining the lakeboats. He was listed as a fireman. A brother, W. Ladue, Barrie, third engineer aboard the vessel, was saved.

regards to the proposed memorial hall.

While the order, "salute the colors," was given, the Newmarket Citizens' Band played the Royal Grenadiers and the 250 members of the children's chorus waved their flags. As the Veterans remained at attention, they sang My Own Canadian Home, young Canada's salute to their country.

The color party retired at a slow march from the arena and proceeded to the Legion club rooms where the remainder of the evening was spent. Dancing was enjoyed with Ken Ponting at the piano and refreshments were served by the wives of the members of the Newmarket Veterans' Association.

Postpone Appointment Of Recreation Chief

At a meeting of the recreation commission held in the council chambers on Monday evening it was decided that the appointment of a full-time, paid director of recreation would be postponed indefinitely.

"The money which would have been spent on salary for a co-ordinator of recreation will be utilized to improve the playgrounds and the playing fields of Newmarket, to provide proper equipment for the town's sports enthusiasts, and to encourage in an educational way the training of volunteer recreation workers," R. C. Morrison, chairman of the commission, said.

"It is planned that each recreation group if the town will appoint a representative to meet with the commission and thus establish the fullest co-ordination of activities," he continued. "This community undertaking to provide wholesome recreation for young and old necessitates serious thought and the wholehearted support of every citizen in Newmarket."

OBSERVE 25TH ANNIVERSARIES OF ORDINATION

Newmarket—Following the 10:30 Mass at St. John's church, Newmarket, on Sunday, parishioners and friends of Father Thomas Edward Joseph McCabe will present him with an address and purse in honor of the 25th anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood. A reception and tea will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Insley, 42 Millard Ave., in the afternoon, and in the evening, a concert, sponsored by the Sisters of Providence and put on by the separate school and the members of the C.Y.O., will be held in the town hall. At the close of the concert a presentation will be made to Father McCabe by the school children and the C.Y.O. members.

Father McCabe, 52, came to Newmarket on July 1, 1946, after his discharge from the Canadian army in which he served as chaplain at Brampton camp. He was born at Orangeville, but his family moved to Guelph and then to Toronto shortly after. He received his primary education at St. Paul's school, and his secondary school education at St. Michael's College. Following his graduation, he spent three years as an apprentice in pharmacy before entering St. Augustine's Seminary.

Father McCabe was ordained June 10, 1922, and he said his first Mass in St. Helen's church, his home parish, the next day. He served as curate at St. Clare's church, Toronto, and at churches in Oshawa and Mimico before being sent to Niagara-on-the-Lake as administrator, and in 1935 to Orangeville as parish priest.

While at Orangeville, Father McCabe, an enthusiast of all sports but particularly of hockey, coached the team which won the Junior "C" O.H.A. Ontario championships. Since coming to Newmarket he has also taken an active part in hockey, last year acting as coach of the Hoffman Machinery crew.

Also celebrating the 25th anniversary of his ordination is Rev. Robert Riddell McMath, Newmarket, who was ordained in Sydenham Methodist church, Kingston, on June 4, 1922.

Mr. McMath was born in County Londonderry, Northern Ireland, 53 years ago. Following the completion of his education there, he took part of his theological training at Edgemoor Theological Hall in Ireland, but came to Canada to complete his course at Wesley, Montreal.

He took his first service at Perth Road, 18 miles north of Kingston, on July 1 of the same year. After serving two years there he spent a year at Ulverton, P.Q., five years at St. Paul's United church, Montreal, eight years at Mount Royal United church, Montreal, and in April, 1933, he received his call to Trinity United church, Newmarket.

Four years later Mr. McMath suffered a complete breakdown and was forced to temporary retirement. He put in two years at Pine Orchard and led in the building of the church there. He is only active in the church now when he is called in to supply or to take services on special occasions. On Easter Sunday he took both services in St. Paul's church.

Mr. McMath accepted a position with Boyd's Real Estate, Newmarket, following his retirement from active church work. He has been married since September, 1922, to the former Annie Buchanan, whom he married "after a long courtship of eight years."

KEN JOHNS RELEASED FROM HOSPITAL BED

"Paroled last Thursday for good behaviour," Ken Johns is back after having been confined for almost four months in York County, Christie St. and Sunnybrook hospitals. Ken says he is out for good but will have to go back for an occasional check-up. He hopes to return to his work with the North American Life Assurance Company in a short time.

Ken was incarcerated February 10 at York County hospital after a severe heart attack. Six weeks later he was moved to Christie St. hospital and later to Sunnybrook, which he describes as "a capital spot. It's really tops. If anyone has any free time on Sunday, it's well worth their while to go up there and have a look around." Ken's only other comment was that he didn't expect to be going skiing for at least six months.

Stress Need T-B Survey Urge Full Co-operation

Newmarket—"In the three years after Pearl Harbor, tuberculosis took more lives in the United States than were lost in the American forces on every front during the entire war," A. S. Patterson, field secretary of the National Sanitarium Association, said in his address at a public meeting in the Newmarket town hall on Tuesday night.

The meeting had been called by the Newmarket board of health to acquaint the general public with the facts concerning T.B. and T.B. x-rays and surveys prior to an x-ray clinic which the Gage Institute has volunteered to conduct in Newmarket from July 17 to July 22.

"T.B. has no apparent signs or symptoms in its early stages. It is not hereditary but it is contagious. It is believed that the x-ray is the best method of finding tuberculosis and the earlier it is found, the sooner it can be cured," Mr. Patterson continued. "Where it is found in its early stages, 99 out of every 100 people with T.B. can be expected to recover completely, but where it is allowed to go until it has reached the advanced stages, one out of three will die. It is estimated that one person dies of tuberculosis every nine minutes in the United States."

"In Canada, tuberculosis is the seventh ranking cause of death and in the age group between 15 and 40, T.B. ranks highest," Mr. Patterson said that because of prefection and simplicity which had been attained it was now possible to x-ray everyone. "In a community where there is a death as a result of tuberculosis it is safe to say that there are at least nine other persons who have T.B. Five of these cases will probably be known, either to doctors or to the person himself, but unless the entire community has been x-rayed, four of the cases will probably remain unknown to anyone. It is the aim of surveys such as will be conducted in Newmarket to find the people who have tuberculosis but who do not know it. The four missing people can be found by x-ray, provided that they present themselves to be x-rayed."

"The survey is done at no cost to the individual," he continued. "It is paid for entirely by the sale of Christmas seals at Christmas time. It is not necessary that the person being x-rayed disrobe any further than to the shirt or blouse and x-rays are now done so quickly that 100 are done in an hour. All we ask of the average person is a few seconds of his time."

"The x-rays are done on an entirely voluntary basis and it is up to the community itself to see that as many as possible take advantage of the opportunity that is being offered. Actually it is the duty of everyone to make sure that he does not have T.B., because if he has, there is con-

Spring Festival Concert By Schools Fills Arena

Newmarket—Spring was welcomed to Newmarket on Friday evening when a large crowd gathered at the Memorial Arena for the Spring Festival Concert by the pupils of the Newmarket public schools.

Herman Fowler, Mus. Bac., not only conducted the chorus of 250 pupils from grades 5 to 8, but also provided the original arrangements of the music for the choir for God Save the King, The Ash Grove (one of the most popular numbers of the evening) and Un-til to the Hills. Mr. Fowler also donated the programs for the occasion. Mrs. A. Foxcroft was the accompanist for the chorus.

The concert, which was sponsored by the public school board, owed much of its success to the fine co-operation received from the Newmarket Citizens' Band under the direction of Robert Moore.

Mrs. W. H. Bell, who handled the selling of the reserved tickets, Fred M. Smith and his son, Harold, who donated the arena free of charge not only for the evening of the show but also for all the rehearsals, and all the others who were behind the scenes contributed to the success of the concert.

The music committee of the public school board of which J. B. Bastedo was chairman, consisted of Mrs. N. L. Mathews, Fred Hall, H. A. Jackson and Herman Fowler. The proceeds from the concert will be used to purchase new school equipment.

Rudy Renzius, chairman of the board of education, welcomed the visitors and thanked all those who had assisted.

The Three Crows delighted everyone and Pa, Ma and Me, who were not at all nervous, were extremely good. The Adventures of Peter Rabbit with the enchanting costumes and the excellent choice of colors was a great credit to the workers and a definite contribution to the success of the evening, as was the May-Pole Dance.

The chorus of wee tots from the Stuart Scott school deserve special praise for their unaccompanied part singing which showed excellent training.

Mrs. William Profit won the wall plaque donated by Marshall Bank for the best living-room arrangement.

SCHOOL BOARD SEAT REJECTED BY OFFORD

Aurora—"I have decided against accepting an appointment to the Aurora public school board. The first word I had of my appointment was when I read it in the Aurora Banner on Thursday," said John Offord, Harrison Ave., who ran second to the late Hugh McRae in January in the special election called to fill a vacant seat on the Aurora public school board.

On Monday, May 26, the Aurora public school board appointed Mr. Offord to the vacancy, and the seat thus remains unfilled with Mr. Offord's refusal to accept the appointment. Mr. Offord indicated that he might seek a school board seat in the future, but preferred to obtain the mandate of the electors rather than to accept a seat by appointment.

The Public Schools Act provides that the board may fill the vacancy for the unexpired term by appointment.

GIVEN LOT

Aurora—Clarence St. John, Aurora veteran, was awarded the lot on Harrison Ave. formerly granted to John Mathewson who is now in Stouffville.

MR. LUDGER DIONNE'S IMMIGRATION POLICY

Mr. Ludger Dionne, Liberal member for Beauce, who has become the storm centre of a controversy raging about his importation of Polish girls for his spinning mill, has not broken any law that we know of, but there is little that can be said in approval of his actions. Mr. Dionne is bringing 100 Polish girls to his textile plant, providing them with transportation, room and board, the cost of which to be deducted from their wages, and has guaranteed them two years of employment in accordance with working conditions in the textile industry as prescribed by Quebec law.

Mr. Dionne is at liberty to proceed with this undertaking despite the clauses of the Alien Labor Act which forbid the importation of labor under contract or prepaying the transportation expenses of imported labor as Mr. Dionne has done. A final clause says that nothing in the act shall affect the dominion and provincial governments from exercising their powers to promote immigration. An order-in-council passed on April 1 on the recommendation of the minister for national resources, Hon. James A. Glenn, and approving his scheme, apparently exempts Mr. Dionne from the foregoing.

To his critics, Mr. Dionne has replied that by giving them employment and transportation, he has offered the girls a security altogether lacking in Europe. Reports of the girls' reactions to the terms of their contracts indicate that anything would be better than the life they have left and that Mr. Dionne's offer is nothing less than a little bit of heaven.

To most Canadians however, what Mr. Dionne offers is absolutely repugnant. Indirect company supervision of non-working hours, lack of choice of lodging, deduction of living costs from their salaries—all this has overtones of servitude. That such conditions should be imposed upon Canadian workers, no matter how benevolent the employer may pretend to be, is sorry testimony to Mr. Dionne's enlightenment.

But it is as a damning criticism of the federal government's immigration policy, or lack of policy, that Mr. Dionne's scheme stands forth. Comes now the announcement in the federal house that some 1,000 men are on their way from Europe to the lumber camps in Northern Ontario at the behest of lumber industries, and that other requests to import labor are being favorably considered. Has Mr. Dionne set the pattern for future immigration to Canada? If so, no criticism of such a pattern can be too forceful.

Immigration is a national issue. It can only be handled by the federal government. The fact that the federal department of labor will "super-vise" the contemplated importation of foreign labor is in no sense a substitute for a clear-cut federal immigration policy. As long as immigration is tailored first to the needs of this industry or that, this section or that, private interest will be served before national interest.

MAKING A GOOD IMPRESSION ON TOURISTS

Catering to American tourists is a major industry in Canada, a fact easily appreciated after watching the steady stream of United States cars on Yonge Highway. The tourists bring with them millions of United States dollars which are of vital importance to Canadian economy. This year, the flow of visitors from the south is expected to reach new records — and never before will it be so welcome because of those same American dollars.

Canada, in common with the other nations of the world, is seriously short of American dollars with which to finance a heavy import trade from the United States. Any means that will encourage United States tourists will have a double benefit — of those who deal in the tourist business and to the economy of the country.

Not all of us will have any occasion to do business with American tourists. We can encourage them to return, however, by making sure that whatever the Americans see of us will leave a good impression. While restaurant owners, gasoline station operators, tourist home proprietors are being encouraged to show courtesy and consideration to their American customers, the rest of us can contribute by making our part of the country as neat as we can, by keeping our yards and homes clean, our roadsides pleasant, our picnic grounds and parks spotless.

It doesn't sound like a large contribution, but it can mean a lot. This section of the country has lost much of its beauty because of carelessness. No pleasure-seeking tourist enjoys driving past roadside dumps, littered parks and dirty lakes. If each of us assists in beautifying our countryside, the result will help ensure a continuing increase of visitors from the south.

SAFETY IN AIR TRAVEL

Aviation had one of its blackest days last week as seven major air accidents caused death to 128. At LaGuardia field in New York, an airliner crashed at take-off killing 42 and injuring six. Forty died in a crash in Japan and there were crashes in Argentina, Iceland, Holland and Alaska to round out the total.

Such large-scale disasters affect public confidence in air travel. Airplane accidents are generally of a spectacular nature and receive considerable publicity. Reading of 39 deaths in one accident, the public is far more impressed with the hazards of air travel than they are from reading day-to-day accounts of death and injury from some other means of transportation — say auto-vehicles. Yet it is fact that in Toronto, 23 have died and 1,001 suffered injuries from auto-vehicle accidents so far this year.

But while the public may have their doubts, figures indicate that air travel has become safer. In 1945, deaths from airline travel in the United States were approximately the same as in 1946 despite a heavy increase in flying. In 1945, there were 2.2 deaths for every 100 million passenger miles. In 1946, 1.2 deaths for every 100 million passenger miles. In Canada, the memory of the loss of the Trans-Canada air-liner over Vancouver is still fresh. But last year, the Trans-Canada flew 14 million miles with 305,000 passengers without mishap.

Perhaps the best proof of the safety of air travel is found with the insurance companies. In the United States, 98 percent of the insurance companies issue policies at standard rates to airline passengers. Last year, 87 percent issued such policies. Ninety-five percent issue policies with only slightly higher premiums to air crew members, but in 1935, only four percent would write passenger policies, without severe limitations.

The work of reducing the hazards of air travel continues and every plane that is built is better than its predecessor because of it. Accidents there will always be. Even should all mechanical hazard be eliminated, there is still the human element and "acts of God" to contend with. In the meantime, according to statistics, air travel is rapidly becoming among the safest means of transportation.

CENSORSHIP NOT THE ANSWER

At their convention last week in Toronto, members of the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire expressed fears of the effect of cheap literature, including comic books, upon their young readers.

The problem is obvious but it is not easy to deal with. Prohibition of the publication of such literature is not the answer. Censorship has never proven acceptable, even in times of war when conditions of emergency have provided some justification. Power to censor in the hands of a government offers too much scope for potential mischief; a precedent in censorship, supplied by the prohibition of literature deemed "unhealthy" for youngsters might conceivably be extended to other fields.

The challenge of "cheap sensationalism" might better be met by more encouragement in reading the childhood classics that are available in most libraries. The Newmarket public library, for example, has an excellent range of juvenile literature, some of which has been catalogued in The Era and Express in the column, Library Corner. The answer to cheap comic books, we believe, is in providing something better through the schools, the churches, the public libraries, and the home.

At the same time, we find it hard to believe that the current reading fare of youngsters does as much harm as it is charged with. Not so many years ago, the adventures of Nick Carter and gruesomely realistic accounts of train robberies and the life of Jesse James were "must" reading for those who are now our solid citizens. They seem to have survived that stage of their development. It is not unreasonable to consider the comic books of the present in the same light.

What Others Think

COST OF WAR TO CANADA

(The Canadian Statesman)

Just for the record which we may ponder now and for quotation in The Statesman fifty years hence, here are the figures covering the cost of the late war. A return tabled in the House of Commons, May 14, disclosed the total war bill to be, for Canada alone, $20,255,865,998, aside from the incalculable cost in lives and casualties of soldiers.

Expenditures from war appropriations rose from $118,291,022 in 1939-40 to $4,587,023,094 in 1943-44, which was the high point. Dropping a hundred million in 1944-45, the cost was carried on with demobilization, 1945-46 at $4,002,049,197, and for 1946-47 at $1,313,188,000.

Other items included the gift of a billion to Britain, plus 19 millions to Greece. Mutual aid to Britain, Russia and seven other countries amounted to a total of $2,211,072,000. Loans to Britain 700 millions, plus 22 million to Russia, Netherlands, Belgium during war were followed by peacetime loans to Britain of a billion and a quarter and millions to half a dozen other countries.

Add the whole thing up and it will total close to 25 billions that the Canadian people have dug up through their own efforts since Hitler forced us to this stupendous effort. As our heading states this is the cost to the Canadian people, many of them not yet born.

HANSARD CORRECTIONS

The Midland Free Press Herald

One of the most amusing "corrections" which has ever appeared in Hansard appeared in a recent issue. It is recorded that Hon. Lionel Chevrier asked permission to correct a Hansard report of a speech made previously by him which read:

... the governor in council will seek power to enact regulations and thereafter to thwart the will of parliament, which gives it the right.

This should have read: ... the governor in council will not thwart the will of parliament but will enact regulations under the power we now seek.

When the Dominion cabinet wants to thwart the will of parliament it does not seek power to do so. It just goes ahead.

Around Town

About the men and women you meet around town almost everyday.

Dr. Joseph Henry Wesley, 80, introduced the X-ray to Newmarket when he brought the first machine to town in 1920. In 1945, Dr. Wesley's work in the X-ray field was recognized by the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons when he was granted a Specialist's Certificate in Diagnostic Radiology. Dr. Wesley's first machine was primarily for diagnostic work, and in 1928 he donated the machine to the York County hospital because he recognized the fact that more people could be served in the hospital than in a private office. He was immediately made head of the X-ray department at the hospital, a position that he held until he resigned in 1945 following a serious illness.

Dr. Wesley bought another and larger X-ray machine in 1928, and had it installed in his office for treatment work, for he realized the potential value of the machine when used for that purpose. "It is only a matter of a very few years that it has been acknowledged that the X-ray will show the earliest signs of tuberculosis," Dr. Wesley says. "Even when this last war started, the authorities did not consider that it was necessary to give applicants for enlistment a chest X-ray, but it was only a matter of time until they found that it was necessary."

Cassette Holder While working with the X-ray, Dr. Wesley invented an "up-right cassette holder" a few years ago, for which he received recognition and praise in the Journal of the Canadian Medical Association. A model of the cassette holder was in use at the hospital here until two years ago, when more expensive equipment was purchased to replace it. A second model is still in use at the doctor's residence, however, and it continues to serve the purpose for which it was invented.

Dr. Wesley was born on the third concession of Whitchurch in 1867, the eldest of eight children, of whom six are still living. He started to school at Bogartown, but when his father's health broke shortly after, the family moved to a lot on Gorham St. just outside of town, and young Joe transferred to the first grade of the original wooden Alexander Muir public school. He also studied at Newmarket high school "but I was never much interested in school—I wanted to quit and work on the farm. I went to the high school for three years but I worked at home before and after school hours and on Saturdays. Because my father was ill and I was the eldest child, most of the work fell on my shoulders, and I wanted to quit school and spend all of my time working. There was considerable dissension between my father and myself over my career, but when I failed on the examinations in my third year at the high school, he told me that if I was sure I wanted to be a farmer, then it was time I went about it.

"When he put it to me that way, I sat down and thought it over seriously. I decided to go back to school, get a third class certificate if possible, and then go on to university. At the end of the year, I passed with a second class certificate instead of a third. I taught school for two years and both my father and I saved every cent we could get our hands on. At the end of that time we had saved enough to put me half way through medical school. We borrowed the rest, and I graduated from the University of Toronto in 1891".

After practising in Keswick for four years, Dr. Wesley came to Newmarket and rented an old store where the Bank of Montreal now stands. He has lived at his present Main St. residence since 1902.

Coroner in 1892 Dr. Wesley was made a coroner in 1892, a year after he had begun to practice, and in 1897 he received the appointment as doctor for the York County Home. "There has never been a ripple of trouble of any kind there," he says. After 50 years, Dr. Wesley still holds the position.

In 1934 Dr. Wesley became medical health officer for Newmarket, a position from which he resigned only recently after 13 years of service. He also served on the high school board for several years "and was chairman for a couple", and has been a member of the town council. He has been a trustee of Trinity United Church for the past 40 years.

Dr. Wesley was also president of the Newmarket Hotel Co. for 12 years "as a result of the only public fight I ever had. It was in 1910 when Newmarket went under local option with a majority of 67 percent. I was the ringleader of the pro temperance men, and when we saw that we were going to be beaten when the local option vote was cast, we formed a strong committee and guaranteed that if local option carried, that is if the town voted in favor of going dry, we would buy, equip, and run a hotel of sufficient size to meet the needs of the public. Local option carried, and the editor of the Express Herald called upon the committee to make good its pledge. I bought the old Forsyth house for $8,000, and the committee proceeded to sell shares in it. We renovated the building completely and

DR. J. H. WESLEY

"We paid our shareholders a dividend of six percent right from the start, and the rest of the profits we put back in the form of improvements. The hotel became extremely popular, but after a while Brown died, and each change of management that we made after that was for the worse. But when we finally sold the hotel, the stock that had been bought was worth $27,000."

Even after Dr. Wesley graduated in medicine, farms and farming remained his hobby. He says that he owned 14 or 15 different farms at different times, including those on Yonge Street now or formerly occupied by Alex. Doner, John Bowser, Ben Phillips, George West, and Bob Bel-fry.

"I never had much time for sports, not even horse racing," he says. "When I was young I spent all of my time working. The modern way of living is much better though. Sports develop a young person physically, but they go a long way toward developing the higher characteristics too."

41 YEARS of Community Service

Time has flown by with all its proverbial swiftness, since The Bank of Toronto first opened its doors in this community. Through the years that have passed our banking services have been intimately linked with the lives and businesses of men and women here. We have shared in their plans and have entered helpfully into their manifold activities. We have marched forward in the goodly company of those, in every walk of life, whose work, enterprise and vision have so notably contributed to community progress and prosperity.

At this anniversary, therefore, the true measure of our satisfaction is the knowledge that, in rendering an essential service, we have made our own contribution to the growth, development and welfare of this progressive community.

Golden Glow Mixes Newmarket Pot Pourri

By GOLDEN GLOW

When there are a number of lovely events to write about I like to combine them all and make a "pot pourri," as the French call our jars of dried rose leaves with spices, etc., the combination making a delightful perfume in a room when the lid is taken from the jar. Now where shall I start? Shall I start on the bird-notes you hear these mornings, in spite of the cold, wet rains we have been having. Yes, I'll start on the birds, for it is one of the best seasons for birds I can recall. One kind especially has a most beautiful song, not just a few notes, but a regular melody of trills and runs, and such sweet notes. I have tried and tried to see it, but now the leaves are on the trees you can't always see the feathered songster.

I thought at first that the lovely oriole was giving us a special serenade, but I heard the oriole farther over in a soft maple tree, so I decided it must be something else. It is one of the loveliest bird songs I ever heard—but it seems as if I am not to know what bird it is. Our neighborhood listens all day and late in the evening to a pair of woodpeckers hammer, hammer, hammer. The night-hawk, the mosquito hawk, is back again, but so far there are no mosquitoes—but I've seen plenty of June bugs. I hope they get after them. Did you see in the paper one day last week about the invasion by a sort of cricket in a southern town—and how the seagulls came to the rescue? There were so many, the seagulls couldn't cope with the situation, and the women and children were sweeping them away from their doorsteps with brooms and mops. It was something like one of the plagues of Egypt told in Scripture in Pharaoh's day.

The tiny humming birds are back—shouldn't that spell summer? Then what about the purple martins—have they come back to Main St. yet? I love to see the martins down town making their home right there on busy Main St. The gulls seem to be staying with us longer than usual—I thought before it must be because of continued ice in Lake Simcoe. I've caught sight of a mourning dove but I haven't seen if it is building its nest near us or not. Mrs. Adams told me they are back in our lovely cemetery. We do not envy "Wally" all his grass cutting this rainy season.

Now for a word about our spring flowers—and the thick foliage and shrubs and trees. Everybody who owns a Forsythia bush was gladdened this year by a profusion of those delightful golden flowers that cover the bush before the leaves come out. When I go down the street these days I always go the one way so I can pass a home with a gorgeous flowering quince bush beside the front verandah, covered with the lovely crimson flowers. And tulips—did you ever see better tulips than we have been blessed with this spring? Everybody who has tulip bulbs has had a wonderful show, for there has been no sudden heat wave like we usually have to shorten the season for them. I had a special invitation from Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wright at the north end to see their display—so down I went, but it had been raining and was so dull all the lovely blooms were closed up tightly—and Mr. and Mrs. Wright did so want me to see them in the sunshine, all open wide. Luckily the sun shone all day Saturday, and I took advantage of the fine weather for a second visit.

How can I tell you how beautiful it was? Every color, and every shade of every color, all standing so straight in the brilliant sunshine—it was a picture! A garden full of beauty. And no small plot either, for the garden would be about as large as the post office, I should say—and the tulips were in straight rows with iris alternating, so when the tulips are done, the iris will be in bloom and when the iris are done there is the promising row of Madonna lilies to follow. Mr. Wright has all sorts of spring flowers and a row of pansies he grew himself from seed. Mrs. Wright has her house-plants set out in another part of the garden, all looking well and healthy. It was a very pleasant visit to a lovely garden—not the least of which was the sight of two pretty Persian pussy cats playing about and the two pretty little daughters of the house, and their brother helping his dad in the garden. I came home with a lovely arm bouquet of the beauties and a very special one for myself that Mr. and Mrs. Wright called a "Golden Glow" bouquet—it was all yellow tulips—maybe I wasn't pleased!

However I won't stop to speak of other delightful gardens this time but pass on to the big spring festival night at the arena last Friday. Of course it was a trifle chilly but we all knew it would be so acted accordingly by putting on warm coats. It must have been endless work preparing for it but on all sides you heard most delightful comments which should gladden the hearts of both performers and trainers. The children's choir under the direction of H. G. Fowler was something our town should be indeed proud to sponsor. Then various numbers were beautifully rendered—while their demeanour was particularly

Mrs. C. H. Vaughan, Toronto, was the weekend guest of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Rigler.

Keswick Young People's Union was entertained by the Queensville Union on May 30. Following a softball game, won by Keswick by a close score, the remainder of the evening was spent in the church basement. Worship was led by Bob Atchison, Doreen Niles and Bob Stinson, with music by the girls' sextette. Mrs. Angus Cowicson was at the piano. Clare Eves, assisted by Rev. A. E. Millen, led a program of games. Refreshments were served before the fellowship circle was formed and "taps" sung.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Marritt, Galt, visited their Keswick relatives recently, as did Dr. Harry and Mrs. Marritt, New York state.

At a recent meeting of the Keswick hockey club, the following officers were elected: pres., Ralph B. Henry; vice pres., Hugh A. Sinclair; sec., Mrs. V. L. Atchison; treasurer and business manager, M. W. Connell.

About 80 members of the Masonic order from this district attended service in the United church last Sunday morning. Geo. R. Smith, Toronto, district deputy grand master, and Arthur Dawson, Keswick, master of the local (Sharon) lodge, assisted Rev. Gordon Lapp in the service.

Masters of other lodges who were present included Cecil Mabley, Richmond Hill; Frank Lacey, Aurora; Earl Toole, Newmarket; Karl Lees, Mount Albert; Chas. Myles, Toronto, master of Bedford Lodge; Howard Bodley, Pefferlaw, master of the lodge at Sutton. Mr. Terry Doane, Queensville, was soloist.

Mrs. Lapp and Martin are in Toronto with her sister, Mrs. Fowler, while Rev. Gordon Lapp is attending the sessions of Toronto conference this week.

Dr. J. Bruce Hunter, minister of Westminster-Central United church, Toronto, will conduct service and preach at the United church Sunday evening, June 8. Well known as a chaplain in both wars, holder of the Military Cross from the first war, Dr. Hunter is an outstanding leader and preacher of today. Rev. Gordon Lapp will be at Westminster-Central for the evening service but in the morning will conduct service at Keswick as usual.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Walden, Toronto, were Sunday guests at the home of his parents.

APPOINTED AGENTS

ly good. The choir was the older children, while each school gave a little play done by the younger ones. And our splendid town band was heard to the best advantage in the spacious arena. The new floor, ready for roller skating later, is a dream and makes you long for your lost youth. We used to roller skate in Oddfellows Hall in my young, or days. Of course the highlight of the evening's performance was the presentation of colors to the Newmarket Veterans' Association by the town council.

Rev. Henry Cotton consecrated the colors, Reeve Arthur D. Evans presented them to Capt. Aubrey Davis, the honorary president of the Newmarket branch, who received them in the name of the corps, and gave a short address. It was a very touching, impressive ceremony, especially as two of the younger members, one a P.O.W. for three years in Germany, marched forward at the word of command through the color party and two rows of Newmarket Veterans and laid their flags on the drumhead to be consecrated. The ceremony with the children's singing and the music of the band was wonderfully conducted. The color party from Toronto, about 60 or more, was very well trained and colorful—and the complete ceremony went forward in perfect unison. One impressive part was the slow march as they retired to the music of the band. It is an evening that will be long remembered in our town.

Then the spring exhibition of the Newmarket Arts Club in the town hall Friday, Saturday and Sunday—another delightful occasion! The grand finale was Sunday afternoon, and in spite of a continuous downpour of rain, Newmarket citizens turned out for a last view of the charming contributions to this season's first showing. The string orchestra was present, and tea was served. It was a decided contrast to the bleak out-of-doors. The platform was a bank of spring flowers which added to the delightful setting. Chairs were arranged for those who wanted to sit while enjoying the pictures—and such pictures!—all fresh and new since the last exhibit! One former exhibitor again had a few new pictures on display, and I am sure from delighted comments, which she must have heard, she will keep on with the charming work. I think all our usual artists had exhibits—two large new pictures of local interest stood on easels below the platform and created quite a good deal of interested comment. We will watch eagerly for the next exhibition.

HOLLAND LANDING

There will be two services in the United church on Sunday, June 8. The afternoon service at 2.30 will be children's service and the church will be decorated with spring flowers and birds. A good attendance of parents with the children is hoped for. The usual evening service will be at 7 o'clock. There will be a special speaker at both services. Everybody welcome.

The original charges against Sherwood were that he had broken the terms of a bond to keep the peace by threatening to shoot Thomas Taylor and John Allen, both of Pefferlaw. The charges were amended when it was discovered that there had not been a definite period specified in the bond.

Taylor testified that he had lived on the farm next to that of the accused for the past year and during that time had forbidden Sherwood to use his pump for water. "He came over for a pail and I told him to go home. I shook him and he said he would shoot me," Taylor said. He admitted that Sherwood was not a strong man and said he was not afraid of him as long as he did not have a gun.

Taylor's brother, Charles Taylor, said he had not been present at the time the threat was made. "He went away after making the threats," he said.

Sherwood admitted that he had been on Taylor's property and that an argument had taken place, but he denied having made any threats.

John Allen said he lived close to Sherwood. "He always crosses my land and pulls fences down," Allen said. "I told him not to cross any more. He said, 'I'll come across and bring a gun and shoot you.'" Allen said there had been trouble between Sherwood and himself before but that he was not afraid of Sherwood unless he had a gun. He said there had been no witnesses at the time of the threat. Sherwood denied having made any threats but admitted that he often crossed Allen's land.

Magistrate Pritchard accepted the evidence of Taylor and Allen and convicted Sherwood on both charges.

Constable W. R. Hill said that Sherwood was practically a recluse and doesn't eat right. "I searched his home and did not find any firearms but he has 100 acres of land on which they could be hidden," he said. "He is about 67 and lives on bread and milk and corn flakes. He told me he would get a gun and shoot Taylor and Allen if they did not let him cross their farms."

"I recommend that you rent the farm and go away from there to somewhere where you will be taken care of," Magistrate Pritchard said. "Your neighbors regard you as a public nuisance. You will be bound over for the sum of $100 on each charge and required to keep the peace for one year."

Sherwood refused to sign the bond and the court was recessed. Following the recess Sherwood again refused to sign the bond "until you make them (Allen and Taylor) sign bonds too."

Magistrate Pritchard directed that a court order be issued to the accused to sign the bond and remanded him in custody until Monday at Toronto.

Both Allen and Taylor pleaded not guilty to charges that they had assaulted Sherwood and when Sherwood said that he was satisfied that the evidence that had already been heard should apply on the charges, both were dismissed.

Edward O'Brien, Newmarket, pleaded guilty to theft of a radio from Mrs. Bruce Fairley, Newmarket, and was sentenced to Guelph reformatory for a term of six months.

Chief Constable Ronald Watt testified that he had investigated Mrs. Fairley's complaint that her radio had been stolen and had found O'Brien with a radio in his possession. "Mrs. Fairley identified the radio and I took the accused into custody. At the time he admitted in a verbal statement that he had taken the radio," Chief Watt said that O'Brien was an alcoholic and had taken the radio to get more drink. He said that O'Brien had been paroled into his custody following a previous conviction and had been alright. "If he had stayed away from drink, I feel that he would have been all right," Chief Watt said.

Accused admitted that he had taken the radio to get more liquor. "Fairley and I had bought beer at a warehouse the afternoon before the theft and were drinking at his home. He said he would take $25 for the radio. I stayed at his home all night and when I woke up I guess I was still a little high. I took the radio to get more drink. It was not my intention to get away with the money or I would not have stayed in Newmarket," he said.

Joseph Vale, acting for the accused, said O'Brien was 31 years old and single. "His employer has helped him out repeatedly before," he said. O'Brien's mother has asked me to ask that O'Brien be sent to a penal institution. He was convicted of theft of a radio before and spent three months in Guelph. He looked much better when he got out and was apparently all right for some time.

"He is a confirmed alcoholic, and something must be done to help him. A three-month sentence will be no good for him. It will have to be a considerably longer term, either in Guelph or in Whitby. He is a real social problem. I do not think that O'Brien has the will power at present to work with Alcoholics Anonymous."

O'Brien said he thought that, given another three-month term at Guelph he could overcome his obsession for liquor. Mr. Vale said O'Brien was apparently an industrious worker when sober. Magistrate Pritchard imposed a sentence of six months definite, and at the request of the accused recommended that it be at Guelph.

Clarence Sedore, Keswick, pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while disqualified. Crown Attorney Arleigh Armstrong filed a certificate showing that accused had been suspended in 1940 and although eligible for reinstatement, had not filed the necessary certificate of financial responsibility which would enable him to get a new license.

Constable Carl Morton testified that he had seen Sedore driving a commercial vehicle owned by Harvey Fontaine on the county road south of Keswick. Sedore admitted having been convicted of careless driving in 1940. He said that he had been driving the truck down from Keswick as a personal favor to Fontaine. He was fined $25 and costs.

Sedore was also convicted of being in possession of a quantity of pike. He pleaded guilty and was fined $10 and costs. Overseer Ernest Prosser laid the charge.

Harvey Fontaine was convicted of permitting Sedore to drive his commercial vehicle when he knew that Sedore's license was under suspension. He was fined $10 and costs.

Wesley Crouch, Toronto, pleaded not guilty to a charge that he had possession of pike. Overseer Prosser testified that he had been patrolling North Gwillimbury with two other officers and had come across a car stuck in the mud. Investigating, he said, he found three occupants of the car, two of whom pleaded guilty to possession of pike last week. He said he had asked at the time which of the three would take the blame for possession of the pike and no one had replied.

Crouch said he had not even known the pike were in the car. He said he had been visiting a friend when the other two caught the fish. He was fined $10 and costs.

Train Bros., Toronto, were convicted of failing to have one of their trucks equipped with the proper license plate and also of driving after dark without a light to illuminate the license plate. Provincial Constable A. S. Andrews testified that he had stopped the truck on No. 11 highway because it was not equipped with a tail light and that after investigating he found that the license plate on the truck was not the one that had been issued for it. The company was fined $100 and costs on the first charge and $5 and costs on the second.

D. L. Aikens, Hamilton, A. Wilson, Kilworthy, and William Benfield, Richmond Hill, were also convicted of driving after dark without tail lights. Provincial Constable T. H. Craig testified that he had stopped the cars in the vicinity of Elgin Mills. They were each fined $5 and costs.

HE'LL NEED FORESTS TOO!

If you look to the bush country for recreation or business, you'll realize how much it will mean to the youngsters of today if you help to save the forests for tomorrow. Above all, protect the forests from fire!

Ontario has been abundantly blessed with natural resources; which, if not properly protected, can be quickly exhausted. Every year, for example, thousands of acres of trees are destroyed because someone is not careful with fire.

Forests mean much more than a pleasant place to holiday... an attraction for tourists... shelter for game animals and fishing haunts. They mean more than a source of lumber and paper products; and jobs for thousands of people, vital as these are to national welfare.

Climate is tempered—extremes prevented—by forest areas. They store water too—help to keep rivers and streams from dangerous and costly flooding in spring time. They spread the flow of water more evenly through the year. That means they help to ensure a year-round supply of Hydro power for you.

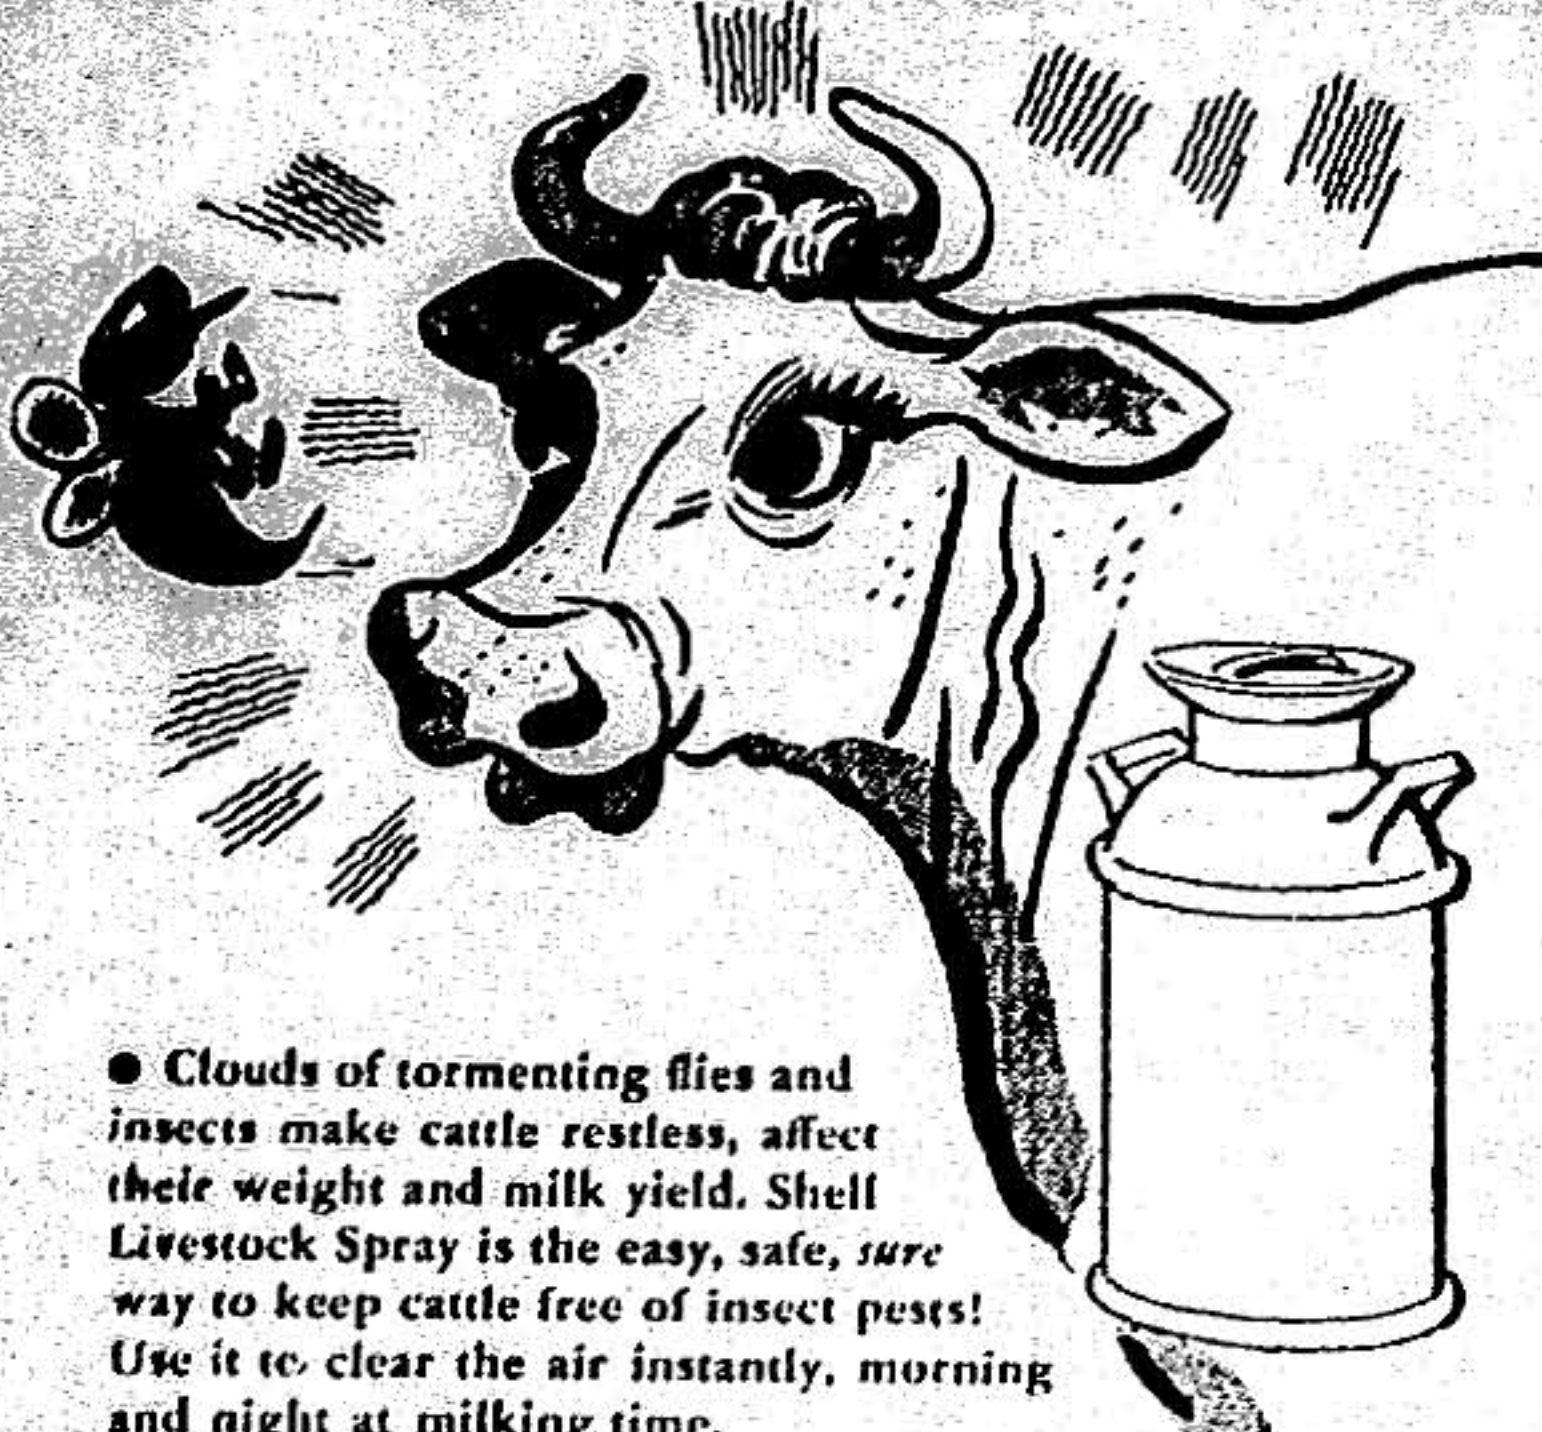

Protect the forests. They serve you well.

SOME WAYS TO BE CAREFUL ABOUT FIRE

- Break each match in two before you throw it away.
- Be sure your discarded cigarette is really out.
- Keep camp fires small, and always in a safe place.
- Before you leave, put the fire DEAD OUT with water.

OTTAWA LETTER

by "Jack" Smith, M.P. North York

An interesting visitor to Ottawa last week was Lorenzo Big Canoe, Chief of the Chippewas of Georgina and Snake Island Indian reserves. The North York Chief was appearing before the special committee of the senate and house of commons enquiring into Indian affairs in Canada, and presented a brief on behalf of his people. Chief Big Canoe is an able representative and he made a very favorable impression here. He presented a well-prepared brief to the committee suggesting new ideas for the betterment of living conditions of his people. In a future letter, I may tell you details of his suggestions which are having the careful consideration of the committee.

The Indians in the Georgina reserve number about 160. They are descendants of Chippewa Chief Snake who, with his band of 109 Indians, settled on Snake Island in Lake Simcoe 140 years ago. Georgina Island consists of 3,574 acres and Snake Island of 328 acres.

Snake Island was surrendered by the band for sale in 1927, but as no offer was made, it was not sold and continues to be used by summer cottagers who pay ground rent to the band. The Indian affairs branch, department of Mines and Resources, has surveyed Snake Island for sub-division into lots for cottages, in accordance with the wishes of the band.

Leases Swell Funds
The band funds of the Georgina Island Indians which came into being with the original surrender grant in 1818 and is augmented by income from ground leases, etc., is in good condition and according to departmental figures as of March 31, 1947, amounted to $39,536.31 and the revenue account amounting to $18,626.31, for a total of $58,162.62. Members of the band benefit in an annuity interest distribution to the extent of $6 each spring and $5 each fall.

Most of the families have their own homes and good gardens, their means of livelihood, in the main, being the same as that of any white community of like size.

In former years the women of Georgina Island were renowned for their basketry and in particular for quill work. To some degree this art is in danger of becoming a lost art, but Chief Big Canoe is anxious to encourage the younger members of the band to receive instruction in this craft from the older women.

The elected council of the band for the next three years consists of Lorenzo Big Canoe, Chief, Leslie McCue and Wellington Charles. The government Indian agent is Wes. Lyons of Virginia.

Oldest Member
Senate Statistics — The oldest member of the Canadian senate is Hon. Sir Allen Aylesworth, who will be 93 on his next birthday and who represented North York in the house of commons from 1905 until 1911. He and Mackenzie King are the only surviving members of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's cabinet. Despite his years, Sir Allen is still active although almost completely deaf. Although the oldest, Sir Allen is not the senior senator. That honor belongs to James J. Donnelly, South Bruce, who was appointed to the upper house in 1913. The youngest senator is J. J. Benoit of St. Catharines who is 43. The average age of the senators is 68. A check of the age of senators shows that one is over 90, nine are between 80 and 90, 27 are between 70 and 80, 31 are between 60 and 70, 16 are between 50 and 60 and two are under 50. Canadian senators are appointed for life and the membership of the senate numbers 96. Today there are seven vacancies and of the 89 six were appointed by Borden, two by Meighen, 15 by Bennett and the rest by King. An unusual coincidence is the fact that all present Liberal members of the senate were appointed by the present prime minister. There are two lady members, Senator Iva Fallis, Conservative, of Peterborough, and Senator Cairine Wilson, Liberal, of Ottawa.

No Change in Vote Age
No change in voting age—By a vote of nine to three, the special committee on the Dominion Election Act rejected a suggestion that the minimum age for voting be reduced from 21 years to 18 years.

Try To Get More Nails
War-time Prices and Trade Board has announced an upward adjustment of 50 cents per keg at the manufacturers' level in the price of nails.

The increase was authorized to offset a substantial increase in the cost of kegs and other raw materials, and to enable the diversion of greater quantities of basic steel to nail production. At the present time, unusual quantities of steel are being diverted for this purpose and further quantities have been requested in order to bring nail production to a maximum of 6,500 tons per month, as compared with 5,000 tons per month in pre-war days. The increase will amount to approximately 70 cents per keg at retail level.

A good-natured controversy extended over a few days in the house last week concerning a Biblical quotation made by a member. Rt. Hon. Ian Mackenzie brought the controversy to a close by quoting from his Gaelic Bible. This is the quotation from Genesis, Chap. 27, part of verse 22: "Is e'n guth Iacob, ach is iad na lamhan Iacob." The English translation is: "The voice is the voice of Jacob but the hands are the hands of Esau." Mr. Speaker jocularly remarked "according to the rules the Minister should not try to introduce a third language in the house."

Probe Abuses
There are sometimes reports regarding recipients of Family Allowance cheques mispending such money, but the minister of health assured the house this week that all such complaints are carefully investigated in regional offices. Following the investigation, if a complaint is found to be justified, the payments to the parents concerned are immediately suspended. Since Jan. 31, 1947, the following numbers of accounts have been suspended because of misuse of family allowances: January, 119; February, 23; March, 39; April, 33. Any complaints directed to me concerning misuse of family allowance will be treated in confidence and carefully investigated.

Immigrants entering Canada between Sept. 30, 1945, and March 31, 1947, numbered 84,151. Of this total 45,147 came from England, 8,763 from Scotland, 15,430 from the United States and 2,503 from Holland.

Era and Express is only $2. It is $3 for two years.

The North York GARDENER

By JOHN DALY
Vice President, Newmarket Horticultural Society

By now your choice of perennials has been made and your order sent to the nursery. Their delivery is the next problem for frequently the parcel arrives when you are unable to plant the contents. Open the parcel at once and spread out the plants as free circulation of air is first aid to them. Keep the moss around the roots moist. If time can be found to plant part of the shipment, set out the small plants immediately. Others like Hemerocallis, with its fleshy roots and masses of fibres, or large field-grown clumps of plants like Tritoma can be safely stored for a few days.

Whatever remains unplanted must be "heeled in." The simplest way to do this is to have a fairly deep box with lots of moist peat moss. Set the plants upright and pack the moss around the roots and most plants will keep in good condition in a light place for two weeks. However, many small plants such as for a rockery, eg. Dianthus or Phlox Subulata have small root systems that soon dry out. These should be trimmed back and potted in good soil and peat moss. The pots should then be plunged to their rims in the ground in a partially shaded place in the garden and kept moist. A fresh set of roots will form within a week or two and they can be planted at your convenience.

For roses, shrubs and trees, dig a trench about 6" deep. Set the plants at a 45-degree angle with the root at the bottom of the trench. Re-fill the trench and water well. If the wood on these appears shrivelled cover the whole plant and the wood will be once more healthy within ten days.

Active growing plants such as Gaillardia are pot-grown and removed for shipment. They are best planted as soon as possible to avoid damage to the surface roots in the pot ball. A dull day or the late afternoon or evening when the sun has lost its heat is the best time to do your planting. For those who don't object to some rain a showery day is best. By now, the soil has been prepared with the addition of humus in the form of well-rotted manure or contributions from the compost heap. Have everything you will need at hand before starting. Keep the box of plants covered and have a supply of water and bone meal handy.

Dig the hole big enough to take the roots comfortably. Mix a handful of bone meal in the soil at the bottom and place the plant in the hole with the roots spread out. Fill the hole with finely pulverized soil making certain the soil goes in between the roots. Shaking the plant up and down will facilitate this.

When the roots are covered push the soil down so that no air pockets remain. Water each plant thoroughly as you go and don't wait until a row is planted. After the water drains away, fill in the hole leaving the plant at about the same depth as it was in the nursery.

Larger plants such as roses, shrubs and trees require special attention before planting. First, examine the roots and with a sharp knife or pruners cut back all damaged roots to healthy wood. Second, long, unweildy roots should be cut back to a more convenient length. Third, prune the tops. For roses, all weak or damaged shoots should be cut back to the base or to short stumps with one or two eyes and the stronger shoots cut back one-third to one-half of their length. Shrubs should have even more severe pruning. In addition to the above the old centre canes should be cut to the base. Trees require the same root treatment as shrubs, but no definite rule can be stated regarding the tops.

Small trees such as lilacs and dogwood require very little pruning except to cut out damaged or mis-placed branches. The pruning of fruit trees depends on the age of the tree and the condition of the roots as well as on the type of tree and this we shall consider later in the proper season.

KESWICK SCENE OF MAY WEDDING

Keswick United church, decked with spring flowers, was the setting on May 3 for the wedding of Sarah Irene Broughton and Walter Chadwick Sedore. Rev. Gordon Lapp performed the wedding ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her stepfather, Mr. James Boyd, was charming in her beige suit with brown accessories, Swiss straw hat, trimmed with American Beauty nylon roses and brown moire ribbon. She carried a shower bouquet of Talisman roses, sweet peas and baby's breath.

Miss Gail Lariviere of Timmins was maid of honor, wearing a grayish blue suit, navy blue accessories, and carried a bouquet of red roses and baby's breath. Mr. Les. Lockerie assisted the groom.

Mr. Claude Pollock and Mrs. Jack Smith were ushers. Mrs. Harold Pollard played the wedding music, assisted by Kenneth Mohan, soloist. The bride's mother wore a powder blue suit with black accessories and a corsage of coral roses. The groom's mother wore a sheppard's plaid suit, violet accessories and a corsage of coral roses.

While the guests were assembled at the buffet luncheon, served at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. Lapp read two telegrams received from Bonny Scotland conveying congratulations and best wishes. One of interest was from Rev. R. Pinkerton of the Church of Scotland where the groom attended services and lived in the home of Rev. Pinkerton during his three years' service overseas. The other was from cousins of the bride, Harry and Mina Sneddon.

Friends and relatives came from many parts of Ontario and Buffalo, N.Y. Mr. and Mrs. Sedore left for a trip to the U.S.A. and will live in Keswick when they return.

CARPENTERS LAY NEW FLOOR AT ERA OFFICE
The carpenters invaded the Era and Express in full force this week and proceeded to tear up the floor under the feet of the hurrying printers, preparatory to laying a new hardwood floor.
The project has been long in waiting, what with the slow deliveries of hardwood. So when the wood finally became available and the carpenters were free for the job, it was a case of rushing it through even at the risk of delaying the paper.
As it was, by moving paper and makeup tables back and forth, and developing an ability to set type while balanced on two beams, the printers were able to get the paper ready for press at the regular time.
The only problem we didn't quite overcome was some way in which to muffle the sound of hammers. As it was, some of our customers who called by telephone must have thought they had phoned a boiler factory by mistake.

Future Of Missionary In India Doubtful—Fox
Newmarket — Many representatives from the missionary societies of the Newmarket churches were present at the Gospel Tabernacle on Thursday evening to hear Rev. Silas Fox, who recently returned from ten years in India. Mr. Fox has spent most of his adult life there where he edited a paper for over 22 years. The paper is read in many Indian homes, and Mr. Fox has a wide range of influence in that country.
"It was not uncommon to have 10,000 people at a meeting in larger cities in India," said Mr. Fox. "If the white missionaries are compelled to leave India due to political and social conditions, the native workers could carry on the work. There have been remarkable conversions among the high castes in recent years."
The future of the white missionary worker is doubtful in India, according to Mr. Fox, but he plans to return in one year if it is possible.

Whitchurch S.S. Convention Urges Greater Enthusiasm

"Competition is as keen in the realm of spiritual things as in any other sphere of influence. Thus our work in the Sunday-school is the most vital of all. We must make the essential investment of our own lives and interests; rejoice in the God of the Sunday-school and push forward with a spirit of adventure to accomplish our purpose. The dividends will be abundant in the salvation of the lives of our young folk. The greatest work—the greatest blessing—the greatest program for world betterment is the Sunday-school. It is not auxiliary but the leading force in evangelism."

Thus declared Rev. Geo. Sheffer, Stayner, in his message on The Sunday-school Teacher's Equipment for Service at the annual convention of the Whitchurch Sunday-schools last week in Pine Orchard Union church.

The representation of the rural Sunday-schools of the various churches in the township pledged themselves to more determined effort in the interests of the boys and girls under their care. The special speakers included Rev. Archie Doner, Gormley, and Rev. Sheffer, both of whom have experienced considerable success in Sunday-school work.

The convention was the 67th of its kind and included schools of Ballantrae, Lemonville, Wesley and Mt. Pisgah United, Bloomington and Ringwood Christian, Baker Hill Baptist, Vivian, Bethesda, and Pine Orchard Union, and Gormley Memorial churches. The convention theme was given by Rev. N. Rowan. "Behold, I show you a better way." Following an address of welcome by the Pine Orchard superintendent, James Hope, the president, Clarence Doner, Gormley, took charge and contributed largely to the smooth operation of the program.

Following reports by departmental heads Mrs. B. Dike, home and visitation, Mrs. Elma M. Starr, total abstinence, and Wm. Yake, boys' division, considerable discussion took place.

Rev. Doner declared: "Since the Sunday-school is the product of the Christian church, which is the highest and noblest force in the world, and contributes the most to the moral uplift of a society, the teacher's responsibility and privilege are the greatest in all the world." He said that of 50,000 criminals who were questioned in their prison loneliness, not one of them had been a regular Sunday-school attendant as a child. His closing challenge was "The Bible must be our text book. It must be the chief attraction of the Sunday-school. Everything else must take second place to the Bible."

Rev. Sheffer gave as his "essentials in a teacher's equipment for service: a personal knowledge of Christ as Savior; a working knowledge of the Bible; a knowledge of the inner working of the Holy Spirit; ability to illustrate, and diplomacy."

Rev. Rowan reported on his weekly visits to the public schools of Whitchurch township during the past five years as did Rev. E. C. Middle of the church vacation Bible schools at Gormley Mennonite and Wesley United churches.

In a brief but very impressive manner, the new officers were installed by Rev. A. Doner. They are as follows: pres., Clarence Doner, Gormley; vice-pres., Lloyd Grose, Vivian; sec-treas., Wm. Paisley, Bethesda and J. M. Grove, Ringwood; Nursery Roll and Children's division, Mrs. George Smalley, Vivian; Girls' division, Mrs. Grant Morley, Wesley; Boys' division, J. Sheffer, Pine Orchard; Young People's division, R. J. Flyer, Ringwood; Adult division, Leo Wagg, Bloomington; Missionary division, Mrs. Allan Hoover, Gormley; Total Abstinence division, Mrs. Elma M. Starr, Pine Orchard; Home and Visitation division, Wm. Yake, Bethesda; Church Vacation Bible School, Rev. E. C. Middle, Wesley; Religious Education in Public Schools, Rev. Norman Rowan.

Mrs. Allan Hoover, a former missionary in Armenia, and now of Gormley, spoke of the missionary interest that should be more apparent in our schools.

Rev. Sheffer's evening address emphasized the need for new recruits for Sunday-school work. Musical selections were sung by Mr. and Mrs. Morris Shupe, Stouffville and the Pine Orchard choir under the direction of A. M. Colville.

The convention went on record of disapproving of inappropriate commercial radio programs on Sunday; of urging the teaching of the evils of alcohol and opposing the manner in which cocktail bars were introduced; and endorsed a resolution of the North York Temperance Federation to the effect that the Criminal Code be amended to make it a criminal offense for a person with an alcoholic content in his blood of 1.5 to 1,000 parts to drive, to make blood tests for alcoholics compulsory at the discretion of the police, and provide adequate penalties for infractions of these laws; and urged avoidance of such centres as Musselman's Lake and Wilcox Lake on Sunday so that the Sabbath might better be observed.

They CAME TO FIND OUT

IN 1847 when the Canada Life was founded, few people understood just what life insurance was. Many were opposed to it. Some thought they would be inviting the wrath of Providence by insuring their lives.

So lecturers were sent out to explain life insurance at public meetings. Gradually, as people learned of the benefits of life insurance, the early hostility gave way to implicit confidence.

Since its beginning 100 years ago, the Canada Life has issued some 800,000 policies; it has paid policyholders and beneficiaries, or accumulated for them, more than $940 millions — $100 millions more than the premiums it has received.

Norse Farm Woman Sends Thanks For Aid

The following letter from Norway was received by Mrs. John Walker, Mount Albert, R. R. 3: "Hello Unknown: In the fall of 1946, the Red Cross Society distributed some gift clothes from America. I got a coat and in its pocket I found an address and I assumed it was that of the owner of the coat. I have now made up my mind to write a letter to said address and say cordial thanks for the gift. It was wonderful in these times for us here in Norway to receive these things because clothes are still hard to get and especially for us who live far from town. Those who live more centrally have a better opportunity than we have. We live far in a fjord. Once more a cordial thanks for the gift. We are hoping that in the near future we will be able to obtain at least the bare necessities even though they are very expensive. "If you have any interest in knowing a little about myself, I might tell you I am a Norwegian farm woman in the fifties. We are genuine Norwegians, my husband, two sons and a daughter, who is just growing up. "It would be very interesting to hear from you in the near future. Again a cordial greeting to you from, Olga Iversen, Harangsfjord, Helgeland, Norway."

Steeper; mixed bouquet, Miss Harrison, W. H. Shields, Mrs. J. Cooper; small bouquet for dining-room table: Mrs. Theaker, Miss Hayes, Mrs. H. Kurtz. There were 12 exhibitors. These were judged by public opinion in an experiment in letting those who saw them have a chance to express their ideas of who should be winners. Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Burgess are in the city this week attending the meetings of Toronto Conference at High Park United church.

Young Hopefuls

By DOROTHY MUIR BOWMAN The Case of the Teen-age Gambler

Roger is a teen-age gambler. He earns a reasonable wage for a lad of his years and experience; however, he is always in debt because he gambles. Society is branding him a good-for-nothing loafer. Roger plays slot machines, shoots dice and bets on races and games of every description. He borrows on his pay check to pay his gambling debts.

Actually, Roger began this unhealthy sport of gambling several years ago. Before he knew heads from tails, he matched pennies with his father. His father has since regretted these early lessons; his own little gambling moods proved a bad influence over his son's young mind. The situation is really a serious one at the present time. How long father will continue to cover his son's debts is not important. Roger will seek other resources if, and when, his father discontinues "paying up" unless, his gambling habit is broken in the meantime.

Children should be taught that gambling is wrong. Money is a symbol of labor and should not be gained without labor. It may be exciting to win money without effort of labor; but it is dangerous fun taking a chance on winning or losing. The results of using hard-earned money by gambling it on games of chance, are tragic. It becomes a disease. The gambler loses his moral strength, sinks lower and lower in character, loses his social standing, and ruins those dependent on him.

Money For Nothing Wrong

Children should be taught that getting money for nothing never is right. Playing slot machines, throwing dice, turning a wheel—all games of chance to win money should be avoided. True and honest gains are earned by effort and skill — never by chance. Roger admits he doesn't like throwing away money, but he always thinks he is going to win next time. Before his cravings for easy winnings develop further — all temptations should be removed. Roger must be kept away from the associates who frequent dives; he needs new companionship and further employment—less leisure time until it can be filled with healthful recreation.

Roger greatly admires his prosperous employer, who is spiritually and morally very sound—definitely not a gambler. His help might prove invaluable in effecting a cure for Roger's gambling habit.

The employer might keep arrange to have meals brought in—provide overtime work—and generally give Roger a new set of standards regarding the value of money as the symbol of labor, not as a curse used by gamblers. Roger's very freedom is at stake unless he breaks the habit that holds him prisoner. At this stage, he is badly in need of help and sympathetic understanding—not society's seal of condemnation.

THE COMMON ROUND By HANNA MOLIS COLVILLE

BITS OF S.S. CONVENTION

Elsewhere in this issue, there is a report of the Sunday school convention held on May 28 at the P.O. Union church. My gleanings are just what you'd expect from this column—things that registered strongly and that I would like to pass on to you.

When the meeting opened at 9.30 on Wednesday morning, what struck me, on looking over the well filled church, was the general air of expectation and earnestness, and the fairly even distribution of men and women. Even the willing workers, who were responsible for satisfying the physical needs of the assemblage, joined the congregation with a feeling of accomplishment. They had worked hard to complete their kitchen; now they had one with every facility for work, from an electric stove to every dish washed and sparkling, and from heaps of clean tea-towels to more appetizing heaps of food. So, they could sit down with the visitors and allow first things to take first place.

What struck me particularly, as it must all who listened that day, was the overwhelming wish of all who spoke to reach the youth of our land. Sunday-school in many instances are declining and the various reasons for this defection were analyzed in the hope that the cause would suggest the remedy.

Indifference of Parents

One reason brought to light was the indifference of some parents and their lack of cooperation. It was suggested that instead of promising—at the insistence of those interested to send the children, they would

W.C.T.U. NEWS

The following letter was received from Mrs. H. C. Heath, W.C.T.U. representative on the liaison committee of Women's International Organizations which serves as a medium of inter-communication and co-operation and seeks to develop the influence of women in international affairs: "It was my privilege to attend a special meeting in Brussels on July 6, 1946 at the home and under the presidency of Baroness Pol Boel. Welcoming the delegates, Baroness Boel stressed the need for a united front when women's organizations wish to make their voice heard, and for a permanent committee for consultation and action to promote the welfare of a community free from fear, violence, and want, enjoying freedom of speech, association and worship; to remove all discriminations against women and ensure their fruitful co-operation."

"Many outstanding women in social and professional spheres were present. One or two gave me a special welcome as your representative. The baroness generously provided lunch and tea in her lovely home in the Boulevard du Regent."

"Then I spent two very full days trying to contact former members of the Belgian W.C.T.U., in order to revive it. On foot, and in the ubiquitous cream trams, I journeyed many miles and traversed many parts of the city. On Sunday evening I got astray in the slums, and there saw ample evidence of the need for our work. On Sunday evening I worshipped in the Methodist church. I carried an introduction from Dr. Sangster, of Westminster Central Hall, London. Dr. Thonger and Rev. Havill Stanley, joint pastors, gave me a kind welcome and did their best to assist me. Three interviews were of special note: those with Mlle. Goblet, former treasurer, who spends much time teaching English to young missionaries; Mme. Hettner Nysens, a keen abstainer; and Mlle. Pichal and her father, president of the Blue Cross. In September I shall be in Brussels for a conference of the International Temperance Union, when, with the help of Mlle. Goblet, I have arranged a meeting in the Methodist church. The churches have a hard task ahead to rebuild materially and numerically. But I believe that whenever a church aids 'any reform that is one of God's good causes', it gains for itself, at the same time, renewed zeal and progress. We trust it will be so in this case."

"In June, I was the guest of Mrs. J. Forrester-Paton of Scotland who kindly invited the members of the Scottish Executive Committee to a drawing-room meeting and tea, to enable me to meet and address them."

"Among my many recent meetings was the summer rally of the Bucks Union, held at Jordans, in the Mayflower Barn, built from the timbers of the famous ship. The body of William Penn rests in the Friends' burial ground nearby. I always feel it is a special privilege and inspiration to speak in that place of hallowed memories."

"All the men and women who fought a great fight, morally and spiritually, in years past, silently challenge us to take up afresh the sword of the spirit and attack with unabated courage the enemies that threaten the bodies and souls of God's children. 'In the spirit of Christ, let us go forward!'"

Mr. James Hope welcomed the delegates, and the Willing Workers gave them dinner and supper. One thing struck me most pleasantly. Sufficient time was given for those who cooked and served the meals to clear up afterwards and still be able to enjoy the meetings—we did not have to miss any part of afternoon or evening—or morning for that matter.

Lots of preparation beforehand, a convenient kitchen and Willing Workers combined with a good time allotment, made for enjoyment all round. And it was an enjoyable time—everyone seemed happy, everyone was very much in earnest, everyone was anxious to help and so bring the 67th annual convention of the Township of Whitechurch Sunday-schools to a successful climax and to live up to the convention theme "Behold, I show you a better way".
